Advanced Technology Video partners with Next Level Security Systems for Product Sales, Support and Logistics

Coppell, TX – June 6, 2016 – Advanced Technology Video (ATV) a leading provider of innovative video surveillance solutions announces a new partnership with Next Level Security Systems (NLSS). NLSS is a physical security company focused on the design and manufacture of IP-based Unified Network Security Products. The NLSS IP-based security management platform integrates video management, access control, video analytics and managed services into a single appliance. The NLSS unified products are employed in several enterprise-class education, retail and government physical security installations across the globe.

Within the new partnership, ATV will provide continued growth by representing the NLSS unified products in its existing distribution channels and provide expansion into a larger dealer base with sales, product and logistics support. ATV cameras will be fully integrated within the NLSS appliance solutions allowing increased functionality to the complete unified system. The new partnership will allow NLSS to focus on product design innovations and leverage ATV's industry-wide regional sales network to strengthen the commitment and success with the combined client base.

"As always we are committed to providing our customers with options to the more traditional security system platform. The integrated ATV camera and NLSS system partnership will allow ATV to move to the Next-Level of product and service support," says Keith Shaver, Vice President of Sales and Marketing, Advanced Technology Video.

"I am extremely excited about the opportunity and added value that ATV brings to Next Level Security Systems. ATV is known for their superb customer support and high quality product lines and we are proud to be part of the ATV team." says Peter Jankowski, CEO and Founder, Next Level Security Systems.
